PRIMARY
AND SUPPORTING

The SEA DREAM colour palette is designed to create a clear, consistent, and recognisable visual identity. Each colour serves a distinct purpose while working together to achieve balance, accessibility, and versatility across all communications.

Their consistent application strengthens brand recognition and creates a cohesive visual identity across digital, print, and promotional materials.

COLOR

The SEA DREAM logo is the primary visual representation of our programme and should be used consistently across all communications, publications, presentations, and promotional materials. The approved logo versions provided below help ensure a clear, professional, and recognizable identity across all platforms and audiences.

LOGO

The hexagonal shapes in the SEA DREAM logo are inspired by molecular and structural forms in science, symbolising research, innovation, and the advancement of knowledge.

The four interconnected hexagons represent SEA DREAM's four thematic priorities and programme objectives, reflecting the programme's integrated approach to addressing complex health challenges across Southeast Asia.

The interlocking design illustrates collaboration and partnership, bringing together researchers, mentors, and institutions across the region to advance health research excellence. Together, the geometric arrangement forms a subtle "S" shape, representing SEA DREAM and Southeast Asia.

LOGO

VARIATIONS

ICON

HORIZONTAL

VERTICAL

TAGLINE

LOGO

SINGLE COLOR

When displayed together, the partner logos should follow this order: SEA DREAM tagline logo, SEAMEO Secretariat logo, Wellcome logo, and UK FCDO logo.

LOGO

The SEA DREAM Programme is implemented by the SEAMEO Secretariat in strategic partnership with Wellcome and the UK Foreign, Commonwealth and Development Office.

PARTNER

LOGO USAGE

Primary Logo

The full-colour vertical logo and the full-colour vertical logo with tagline are the primary SEA DREAM logos and should be used whenever possible on official documents, presentations, websites, and Information, Education, and Communication (IEC) materials.

Single-color logo

Single-colour logo versions should only be used when the primary logo is not suitable.

- The white logo should be used only on dark backgrounds.
- The green, red, or dark logo should be used only on light backgrounds.

Always ensure sufficient contrast to maintain visibility and legibility.

LOGO USAGE

Background

The SEA DREAM logo must always appear on a background that provides clear contrast.

Avoid placing the logo on:

- Backgrounds with similar colour tones
- Busy or highly detailed images
- Patterned or textured surfaces that reduce readability

Icon-only usage

The SEA DREAM icon may be used independently only for non-informative and promotional applications, such as merchandise, event kits, souvenirs, social media graphics, or other branded items.

The icon should not replace the complete logo on official communications unless specifically approved.

LOGO USAGE

Approved colors

The SEA DREAM logo may only be reproduced using the official brand colours:

- Sea Green: #17926D
- Carmine Red: #A22023
- Charcoal Gray: #333333
- Cultured Gray: #F3F3F4

No other colours may be used without prior approval.

Typography

The typography within the SEA DREAM logo is a fixed design element and must never be altered.

- Use only the official logo artwork.
- Do not recreate or modify the lettering.
- Do not replace the logo typography with another typeface.
- Do not embed the icon within other text or wordmarks.

Official Logo Files: Always use the official SEA DREAM logo files provided by the programme. Official logo files are distributed through SEA DREAM website and should be used in their original format to ensure quality and consistency. Do not use logos copied from other websites, presentations, social media, screenshots, or other unofficial sources, as these may be low resolution, outdated, or incorrectly formatted.

LOGO USAGE

INCORRECT

Stretch, compress, or distort the logo

Rotate or change its proportions

Apply colours outside the approved palette

Add shadows, outlines, gradients, or visual effects

Modify or reposition the tagline

Alter any logo elements or typography

BRAND

The SEA DREAM visual identity should be applied consistently across all official communications and materials, including but not limited to:

Websites

programme/ project websites project websites landing pages web portals
digital platform

Presentation

PowerPoint presentations
webinars conference presentations training materials
briefing decks

Printed materials

reports brochures fact sheets posters banners publications stationery

Promotional contents

social media graphics campaign and dissemination materials event collateral videos
marketing materials

All applications must comply with the logo usage, colour palette, and typography outlined in these guidelines.

APPLICATIONS

The SEA DREAM Editorial Guidelines establish standards for written communication across all platforms and publications. They promote consistency in language, tone, formatting, and editorial style to ensure that all communications are clear, accurate, inclusive, and aligned with the SEA DREAM brand.

EDITORIAL GUIDELINES

VOICE

SEA DREAM communicates with a voice that reflects its commitment to scientific excellence, regional collaboration, and equitable partnerships. All communications should be clear, credible, and accessible while remaining respectful of diverse audiences across Southeast Asia.

PROFESSIONAL

Maintain a confident, respectful, and authoritative tone that reflects SEA DREAM's role as a trusted regional health research programme.

ENGAGING

Write in a way that is approachable, human, and relevant, encouraging collaboration while making complex topics easy to understand.

CONCISE

Communicate ideas clearly and efficiently by avoiding unnecessary words, repetition, and overly technical language where possible.

ACCURATE

Ensure all information is factually correct, evidence-based, and consistent with SEA DREAM's official policies, terminology, and messaging.

SEA DREAM follows British English.

Spelling should follow the current Oxford English Dictionary (OED) and Oxford Languages, using the preferred British spelling where variants exist. Examples include:

British	American
organisation	organization
recognise	recognize prioritise	prioritize analyse	analyze
behaviour	behavior
programme	program [*]
colour	color
centre	center
labour	labor
travelling	traveling

^{}Use programme except when referring to software or computer programs.*

Always follow the official spelling of organisations, publications, or proper names.

Correct examples

- Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organization (not Organisation)
- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) (not Centres)

SPELLING

QUOTATION

Use quotation marks consistently to distinguish quotations from titles and specialised terms.

Single quotation marks (' ')

Use single quotation marks for:

- titles of articles or reports
- conference themes
- slogans
- specialised terms on first reference
- letters or words discussed as words

Example

The conference theme was 'Building Research Equity Across Southeast Asia'.

Double quotation marks (" ")

Use double quotation marks only for direct quotations or spoken dialogue.

Example

One of the participants stated, "Regional collaboration is essential to strengthening health research."

LISTS

Use bullet points to improve readability while maintaining consistent punctuation and formatting.

Complete sentences

If each bullet is a complete sentence, begin with a capital letter and end with a full stop.

Example

SEA DREAM supports regional health research through the following initiatives:

- The programme strengthens research partnerships across Southeast Asia.
- It promotes equitable collaboration among consortium members.
- It invests in the next generation of health research leaders.

Introductory stem

If an introductory statement leads directly into the bullet points, each item should complete the sentence. Begin each item with a lowercase letter (unless it is a proper noun). Omit punctuation for short items.

Example

SEA DREAM supports health research by:

- strengthening regional research partnerships
- building institutional research capacity
- investing in future research leaders

Words or short phrases

If the bullet points consist of words or short phrases rather than sentence fragments, begin each item with a lowercase letter (unless it is a proper noun) and omit punctuation.

Example

SEA DREAM's thematic priorities include:

- infectious diseases
- mental health
- climate change and health
- strengthening health systems and access to care

BULLETED

SEA DREAM is committed to respectful, inclusive, and equitable communication. Language should reflect the diversity of people, institutions, and communities across Southeast Asia while avoiding stereotypes or discriminatory expressions.

INCLUSIVE

LANGUAGE

Use inclusive language

- Use gender-neutral terms where possible.
- Avoid assumptions based on gender, ethnicity, nationality, disability, religion, or age.
- Refer to people respectfully using their preferred names and pronouns when known.
- Emphasise people before conditions or characteristics where appropriate (for example, people living with disabilities where this aligns with preferred terminology).

Instead of	Use
manpower	workforce / staffing
chairman	chair / chairperson
principal investigator and his team	research team / the Principal Investigator and the research team
developing countries	low- and middle-income countries (LMICs), where appropriate vulnerable groups	people or communities in vulnerable situations
beneficiaries	participants / communities / partners (depending on the context)
boys and girls	children
mankind	humanity / humankind

Whenever possible, use plural constructions to avoid unnecessary gendered pronouns.

Instead of
A researcher must submit his report.

Use
Researchers must submit their reports.

DATES

Use the day month year format without commas.

Example

- ✓ 15 January 2026
- ✓ 7 July 2026
- ✗ January 15, 2026

TIME

Use the 24-hour clock and always include the applicable time zone for meetings, events, webinars, deadlines, and other time-sensitive communications. Use the appropriate time zone abbreviation or UTC/GMT offset where relevant.

Example

- ✓ 09:00 ICT
- ✓ 14:30 GMT+7
- ✓ 09:00–17:00 ICT

Spell out numbers one to nine and use numerals for 10 and above, except when a number begins a sentence.

ONE, TWO, THREE
FOUR, FIVE, SIX,
SEVEN, EIGHT,
NINE, 10, 11, 12,
13, 14, 15, 16, 17,
18, 19, 20, 21, 22...

Example

- Three consortiums participated.
- The programme funded 12 research projects.
- Twenty researchers attended the workshop.

HYPHENATION

Use hyphens only where they improve clarity or are part of established terminology.

Example

- early-career researcher
- evidence-based policy
- multi-country consortium
- region-wide initiative
- decision-making

Do not hyphenate commonly accepted terms.

Example

- ✓ healthcare
- ✓ stakeholder
- ✓ email

PUNCTUATION

Apply British English punctuation consistently throughout all communications.

- Use one space after full stops, commas, colons, semicolons, and other punctuation marks. Do not insert multiple spaces between sentences.
- Use the serial (Oxford) comma only where it improves clarity.

Example

- ✓ The consortium includes researchers from Cambodia, Malaysia and Thailand.
- ✓ The keynote speakers included the Minister of Health, the Director-General, and the Programme Director.

(The comma before "and" clarifies that these are three separate individuals.)

- Use en dashes (–) for ranges.

Example

- 2026–2030
- Pages 12–18
- Monday–Friday

REFERENCES TO FIGURES AND TABLES

References to figures, tables, charts, and panels should appear in parentheses at the end of the relevant sentence.

Example

Thematic distribution of 267 eligible preliminary applications for D4H Call for Proposals 2026 (see Figure 1).

Source notes should begin with Source: followed by the citation.

Example

Source: SEA DREAM Programme.

Acronyms should only be used after the full term has been written on its first occurrence. Once introduced, the acronym may be used consistently throughout the remainder of the document.

First reference	Subsequent references
Southeast Asian Ministers of Education Organization (SEAMEO) Secretariat	SEAMEO Secretariat
Developing Research Excellence and Mentorship in Southeast Asia (SEA DREAM)	SEA DREAM
UK Foreign, Commonwealth & Development Office (UK FCDO)	UK FCDO

Guidelines

- Spell out the full name on first mention.
- Do not create unnecessary acronyms.
- Avoid using abbreviations that may not be widely recognised by the intended audience.
- Use only officially accepted acronyms for organisations, programmes, and technical terms.

ACRONYMS

Southeast Asia

Use Southeast Asia (not South East Asia).

Country Names

Use the official English names adopted by SEA DREAM and Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN).

Use	Other Forms
Brunei Darussalam	Brunei (formal documents)
Cambodia	Kingdom of Cambodia
Indonesia	—
Lao PDR	Laos
Malaysia	—
Myanmar	Burma
Philippines	The Philippines
Singapore	—
Thailand	Kingdom of Thailand
Timor-Leste	East Timor
Vietnam	Viet Nam (official titles only)

COUNTRY NAMES

Regional References

- Avoid abbreviating "Southeast Asia" to "SEA". Use "SEA" only when it forms part of the official programme name, such as "SEA DREAM", or another officially named entity.
- Refer to member organisations by their official institutional names.

The Official Correspondence guidelines provide recommended standards for preparing letters and other formal communications on behalf of the SEA DREAM Programme. They serve as a reference for formatting and writing official correspondence while allowing flexibility to accommodate different communication needs and institutional requirements.

NAMING

Naming conventions vary across Southeast Asia. When corresponding with individuals, always verify and use their preferred form of name and title.

CONVENTIONS

Country	Preferred reference
Cambodia	Most names consist of two short words. Use both names throughout.
Indonesia	Many individuals have a single name or no family name. When a name consists of two words, generally use the first name. In some cases, both names are used throughout.
Lao PDR	For names consisting of two words, always use the first name.
Malaysia	Malays generally do not have family names. Instead, the father's given name forms the second part of the name. Use the first name. The terms bin (son of), binti (daughter of), and Haji may be omitted where appropriate. Given names may also include compounds such as Abdul, Mohammed, or Syed.
Myanmar	Many individuals have only one name. When a name consists of two words, use both names throughout.
Philippines	Use the last name after the first reference.
Singapore	Three-syllable Chinese names do not use a hyphen between the last two syllables. Use the first name. For two-word names, use the second name.
Thailand	Use the first name.
Vietnam	Names usually consist of three words without hyphens, although some consist of two words. Generally, use the last name.

When in doubt, use the form of name shown in the person's email signature, business card, institutional website, or previous correspondence.
